Actor/Author Leon Acord in Conversation with actress/singer Amanda Gari about Expletives Not Deleted Saturday, Oct. 28 at Village Well Books, Culver City, CA

Actor/author Leon Acord will make an in-store appearance at Village Well Books in Culver City, CA, on Saturday, Oct. 28, at 5 p.m. to discuss his new collection of humorous essays Expletives Not Deleted.

Actress/singer Amanda Gari, who co-starred with Leon in the popular streaming gay sitcom Old Dogs & New Tricks (2011-2016, Amazon Prime), will join him in conversation about the book, now available in paperback and e-book.

Acord will also read a selection, answer questions, and sign copies of Expletives Not Deleted as well as his previous book, the light-hearted 2020 memoir SUB-LEBRITY.

“I’m a Culver City resident, and I’m really excited and honored,” says Acord. “Village Well really is more than just a book store. Whenever I stop in there, the place is bustling with book lovers, coffee drinkers, folks just visiting. It’s a bit of a community center as well as a bookstore and coffee shop. And it’s so encouraging to see a crowded book store in this day and age!”

Expletives Not Deleted collects twenty-three comedic compositions on current real-life topics, including cancel culture, trans rights, precocious parents, technology, racism, closeted actors, theatre critics, and – yes – Donald Trump.

Midwest Book Review called it “unique, highly recommended,” while Laura Moreno of Bay Area Reporter says, “the book, infused with humor, showcases Leon Acord’s razor-sharp wit ... filled with good old-fashioned horse sense.”

Village Well Books is located at 9900 Culver Boulevard in Culver City. Admission is free. For more info: visit bit.ly/LAatVWLive or www.LeonAcord.com
